

GENDER DIFFERENCES IN ALCOHOLISM

S u m m a r y

This article reviews current classifications of alcohol abuse showing gender differences among alcoholics. The most popular Cloninger's classification and Winokur's depressive spectrum hypothesis have been discussed. The author also presents results of a study in which a case of familial depression and familial alcoholism was investigated.